

About German eForensics

We are a young, fast growing, ISO9001- certified high-tech startup that develops with EVISCAN a worldwide unique solution for contactless and digital forensic for international security authorities and forensic laboratories. For our product innovation, we have received numerous awards for technology, design and business. As a result of strong client interest and solid venture capital financing, we plan to further strengthen our dynamic, interdisciplinary team and are now looking for an:

Part-time marketing employee (m/f) (also open for working students)

Your Tasks

As reinforcement of our marketing team, you will independently carry out organisational and operational tasks in the marketing team. You will develop and manage marketing activities in cooperation with the management, to whom you will also report directly. Your varied tasks will include the following:

- Conception, implementation and control of sales-supporting marketing measures
- Further development of our communication marketing and related media (online/offline)
- Coordination of a smooth workflow within the marketing projects
- Preparation of campaigns and leads for distribution
- Creation, preparation and discussion of marketing reports with management

Your Qualifications

- Study of Business Administration/ Economics/ Marketing/ KuWi/ IM or comparable education
- First experience in marketing or communication
- Very good written and spoken German and English skills
- Enjoy working with graphics programs
- Very good knowledge in dealing with MS-Office applications
- You work goal-oriented, on your own responsibility and also enjoy working in a team
- A structured, analytical and goal-oriented working style with its own creative impulses
- Strong communication skills to work independently in a young, motivated team

Your Chances

You will work as an important personality in our young and dynamic team in the environment of an up-and-coming high-tech start-up and will advance the development of an innovation for the police, secret services, the military and other partners that has attracted much attention worldwide. Through our work with renowned, international partners, we offer you exciting projects, creative freedom and promising perspectives for your professional career. In addition to a salary that matches your profile, you will also receive relevant practical experience, a first-hand start-up culture and personal development.

Your Next Steps

Send your application including CV, desired starting date and references to Eike Manusch (karriere@eviscan.com, +49 (261) 201671-0)

Company Information

EVISCAN | German eForensics GmbH | Universitaetsstraße 3 | 56070 Koblenz | www.eviscan.com